This quarterly report of debt information of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan has been prepared by the Debt & Asset Management Unit of the Treasury Department of the Ministry of Finance. The report contains both actual and projected data of the debt that is believed owed by the government to external creditors. Due to the numerous years of conflict in Afghanistan, it is possible that some debt claims are not currently known to the government but may become known at a later date. Claims of debt owed but not yet fully verified are not included in this report as they are not yet determined to be legitimate claims against the government.

Notes:

- > Any disbursement amounts in foreign currencies are converted to Afghani at the exchange rate in effect on the date of disbursement.
  - > Amounts in Service Charges and Fees include any contractual interest paid under the loan agreement.
  - > Afghanistan utilizes the cash basis of accounting meaning that it accounts for any payments when the actual payment is made and recognizes any loan disbursement (receipt of proceeds) only when the money is actually disbursed by the creditor.
  - > Period end debt balances are the amounts of each loan liability at the end of the period in the currency of the liability converted to Afghani at the currency exchange rate on the last day of the reporting period.
  - > Period end debt balances include amounts of capitalized fees or interest on certain loans from the Asian Development Bank where such treatment is called for in the loan agreement.
  - > Non-Current loans are loans that Afghanistan has not made any payments on in recent years. The country is currently attempting to restructure or obtain debt forgiveness on these loans.
  - > Restructuring related to any non current loans are not projected as the timing of debt restructuring or debt relief is not predictable. Any restructuring or debt forgiveness will be recognized when the agreement covering such transaction has been signed.
  - > All new loans accepted by Afghanistan are required to have "concessionary" loan terms meaning that they have longer grace and maturity periods than would normally be available in the market place and the fees associated with such loans are lower than normal fees or service charges.
  - > Under an agreement reached in 2006 with Germany, Russia and the United States, any service charges accruing on debt owed to these countries is capitalized and not immediately payable per the terms of various restructuring agreements. These service charge amounts will be due at a later date if the amounts are not forgiven or written off by the creditor country.
  - > Afghanistan currently has claims of amounts owed from a private party (previously a loan from Czechoslovakia assumed by the Czech Republic and subsequently assigned to the private party) that it has not currently recognized as obligations. Afghanistan is currently investigating the amounts of these claims.
- (1) Germany, the Russian Federation and the United States, as members of the Paris Club, have agreed to provide Afghanistan with 100% debt relief provided that Afghanistan maintains certain economic programs with international authorities, achieves certain economic and social benchmarks and reaches Completion Point as defined by the Heavily Indebted Poor Country (HIPC) initiative.
- (2) Non-current loans are currently valued at the last amount verified by the creditor and agreed to by Afghanistan.
- (3) Received Debt waiver from these Creditors.
